

WELCOME

Dear Participants,

We give you a warm and enthusiastic welcome to the XLIV Congress of the Chilean Society of Pharmacology (SOFARCHI) at the Universidad Católica del Norte in Antofagasta. We are thrilled to host a diverse assembly of students, researchers, and distinguished national and international speakers for this exciting event.

This congress marks a significant juncture in the field of pharmacology, and your presence amplifies its importance. To our students, this is a golden opportunity to immerse yourselves in the latest advancements, network with fellow enthusiasts, and be inspired by the collective wisdom gathered here. For researchers, this is a fertile ground to showcase your cutting-edge work, fostering collaboration and pushing the boundaries of pharmacological knowledge.

We extend our deepest gratitude to our distinguished speakers, whose insights promise to ignite intellectual curiosity and fuel meaningful discussions throughout the congress.

The Universidad Católica del Norte, with its commitment to academic excellence, provides an ideal setting for this exchange of knowledge. As we convene in Antofagasta, let us embrace the spirit of collaboration, cultural diversity, and scientific inquiry that defines SOFARCHI.

May the next few days be filled with stimulating conversations, insightful presentations, and the forging of connections that transcend borders. Together, let us contribute to the advancement of pharmacology and pave the way for a future of innovative breakthroughs.

Welcome to the XLIV SOFARCHI Congress at the Universidad Católica del Norte.

Sincerely,

Guillermo Antonio Díaz-Araya
